Background

About the IAB internet advertising revenue report

Conducted by PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP (“PwC”) on an ongoing basis, with results released quarterly, the “IAB Internet Advertising Revenue Report” was initiated by the Interactive Advertising Bureau (IAB) in 1996. This report utilizes data and information reported directly to PwC, publicly available online corporate data, and information provided by online ad selling companies.

The results reported are considered the most accurate measurement of internet/online/mobile advertising revenues because much of the data is compiled directly from information supplied by companies selling advertising online. All-inclusive, the report includes data reflecting online advertising revenues from websites, commercial online services, ad networks and exchanges, mobile devices, and email providers, as well as other companies selling online advertising.

The report is conducted independently by PwC on behalf of the IAB. PwC does not audit the information and provides no opinion or other form of assurance with respect to the information. Only aggregate results are published and individual company information is held in strict confidence with PwC. Further details regarding scope and methodology are provided in the appendix to this report.

Executive summary

IAB internet advertising revenue report 2014 full year highlights

Internet advertising revenues (“revenues”) in the United States totaled $49.5 billion for the full year of 2014, with Q4 2014 accounting for approximately $14.2 billion and Q3 2014 accounting for approximately $12.2 billion. Revenues for the full year of 2014 increased 16% over 2013.

Key trends underlying 2014 results

Revenues increase 16% in FY 2014 — Internet advertising revenues in the United States totaled $14.2 billion in the fourth quarter of 2014, an increase of 16% from the 2014 third-quarter total of $12.2 billion and an increase of 17% from the 2013 fourth-quarter total of $12.1 billion. 2014 full year internet advertising revenues totaled $49.45 billion, up 16% from the $42.78 billion reported in 2013.

“Marketers clearly recognize that consumers are leading mobile-first lives and are investing their ad dollars accordingly. The news of digital video’s double-digit growth is also no surprise. Brands and agencies are clamoring to get into the upcoming Digital Content NewFronts, where they will experience the latest in storytelling in sight, sound and motion.”

— Randall Rothenberg, President and CEO, IAB

Mobile advertising increases 76% in FY 2014 — Mobile advertising in the United States totaled $12.5 billion during FY 2014, a 76% increase from the prior year total of $7.1 billion.

“High double-digit growth in mobile advertising is a reflection of the continued shift in consumer behavior away from desktop and towards mobile devices. A prominent rise in Social, a significant mobile activity, is driving growth in advertising revenue as consumers spend more time connected.”

— David Silverman, Partner, PwC

Historical annual revenue trends

Strong revenue growth continues in 2014

2014 annual revenues increased on a year-over-year percentage and dollar basis. The compound annual growth rate (CAGR) over the past ten years for internet advertising of 17% has outpaced U.S. current dollar GDP growth of 3%* over that period.

Since 2010, internet advertising growth was fueled by a 110% CAGR in Mobile (compared to 10 % growth in non-Mobile revenue over the same period).

Historical quarterly revenue trends

Quarterly growth continues upward trend

Internet advertising continued to build on the momentum from 2013.

Over the past five years we have seen a clear seasonal trend of strong fourth quarter revenue followed by a first quarter dip. Despite the seasonal dip, first quarter revenues have outpaced the prior year's third quarter since 2010.

Historical revenue mix – first half vs. second half

Second-half revenues reach $26.4 billion

Second-half revenues totaled $26.4 billion in 2014, an increase of $3.6 billion from second-half revenues of 2013, which totaled $22.7 billion. Second-half revenues in 2014 represented 53% of total revenues in 2014, consistent with numbers reported in 2013 and consistent with the broader trend of higher revenues in the second-half of each year. The historically higher proportion of revenues in the second half of the year results from both the continued growth in the industry and from the seasonality of higher ad spend in the fourth quarter.

Historical format trends

Search retains largest share of revenue, while Mobile grows fastest overtaking Banner ads

- Non mobile Search remains the leading format at 38% of FY 2014 revenues. Decline in its overall share is attributed to growth in Mobile and Mobile Search, which is included in the Mobile category.
- Non mobile Search, Banner, and Classifieds are all down slightly as a percentage of total revenue due to the substantial growth of Mobile. Rich Media, Lead Generation, and Video remained consistent as a percentage of total revenue in comparison to FY 2013 results.
- Mobile revenues continued to quickly gain share, representing 25% of total revenues in FY 2014, as compared with 17% reported in FY 2013 and 9% in FY 2012. While Mobile has eroded share of other formats, the Mobile format itself is comprised of multiple formats.

Advertising market share by media

Internet advertising continues to be the leading source of advertising revenue in 2014

Internet has continued to grow in share and significance when compared to other U.S. ad-supported media.† Internet advertising revenue now represents 75% of all Television (Broadcast and Cable) advertising.

- In 2013, Internet advertising exceeded Broadcast Television.*
- In 2011, Internet advertising surpassed Cable Television.

 Cable Television includes National Cable Networks and Local Cable television advertising revenue.

Historical advertising market share

Internet advertising revenue growth outpaces other media outlets over the past five years

In every year since 2010, the annual growth rates of Internet advertising have exceeded those of other advertising media. Internet advertising has experienced double-digit annual growth in every year except 2009; no other media has experienced double-digit growth in any year.

* Broadcast Television includes Network, Syndicated and Spot television advertising revenue.

 Cable Television includes National Cable Networks and Local Cable television advertising revenue. Methodology for Cable TV estimate changed in 2014, impacting results shown in the table above from prior years' Reports.

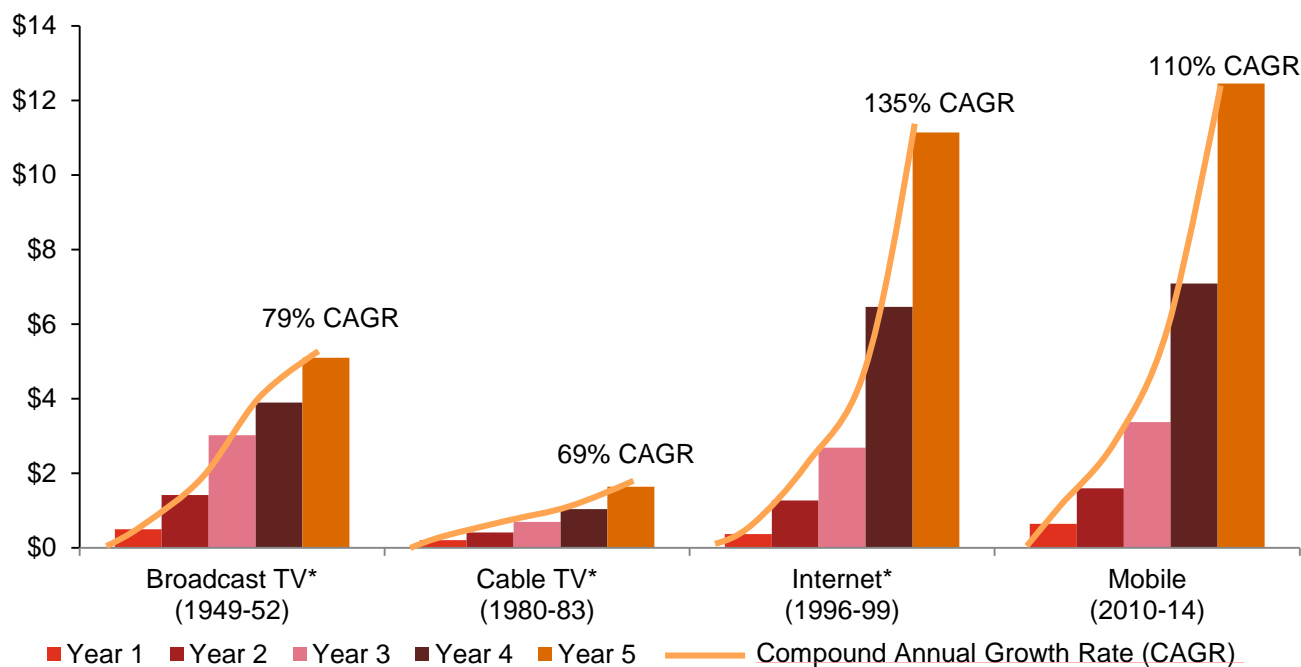

Historical advertising growth of media

While Mobile's growth over the past five years is impressive, the Internet fared even better in its early years

During the first five years of Broadcast TV, Cable TV, Internet, and Mobile, all media experienced tremendous advertising revenue growth.

While over time Cable TV has emerged as a major advertising medium, due to the capital intensive nature of the rollout and reliance on subscription fees, advertising revenue growth rates, while impressive, were not on par with the other media.

Definitions of advertising formats and pricing models

Banner Advertising	Advertiser pays an online company for space on one or more of the online company’s pages to display a static or linked banner or logo.
Sponsorship	Advertiser pays for custom content and/or experiences, which may or may not include ad elements such as display advertising, brand logos, advertorial, or pre-roll video. Sponsorships fall into several categories: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Spotlights are custom-built pages incorporating an advertiser’s brand and housing a collection of content usually around a theme • Advergaming can range from an advertiser buying all the ad units around a game or a “sponsored by” link to creating a custom branded game experience • Content & Section Sponsorship is when an advertiser exclusively sponsors a particular section of the site or email (usually existing content) re-skinned with the advertiser’s branding • Sweepstakes & Contests can range from branded sweepstakes on the site to a full-fledged branded contest with submissions and judging
Email	Banner ads, links or advertiser sponsorships that appear in email newsletters, email marketing campaigns and other commercial email communications. This includes both ads within an email or the entire email.
Search	Fees advertisers pay online companies to list and/or link their company site domain name to a specific search word or phrase (includes paid search revenues). Search categories include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Paid listings – payments made for clicks on text links that appear at the top or side of search results for specific keywords. The more a marketer pays, the higher the position it gets. Marketers only pay when a user clicks on the text link. • Contextual search – payments made for clicks on text links that appear in an article based on the context of the content, instead of a user-submitted keyword. Payment only occurs when the link is clicked. • Paid inclusion – payments made to guarantee that a marketer's URL is indexed by a search engine (i.e. advertiser isn’t paid only for clicks, as in paid listings). • Site optimization – payments made to optimize a site in order to improve the site’s ranking in search engine results pages (SERPs). (For example, site owner pays a company to tweak the site architecture and code, so that search engine algorithms will better index each page of the site).
Lead Generation	Fees paid by advertisers to online companies that refer qualified potential customers (e.g., auto dealers which pay a fee in exchange for receiving a qualified purchase inquiry online) or provide consumer information (demographic, contact, behavioral) where the consumer opts in to being contacted by a marketer (email, postal, telephone, fax). These processes are priced on a performance basis (e.g., cost-per-action, -lead or -inquiry), and can include user applications (e.g., for a credit card), surveys, contests (e.g., sweepstakes) or registrations.
Classifieds and Auctions	Fees paid to advertisers by online companies to list specific products or services (e.g., online job boards and employment listings, real estate listings, automotive listings, auction-based listings, yellow pages).
Rich Media	Display-related ads that integrate some component of streaming interactivity. Rich media ads often include flash or java script, but not content, and can allow users to view and interact with products or services (e.g., scrolling or clicking within the ad opens a multimedia product description, expansion, animation, video or a “virtual test-drive” within the ad). All IAB Rising Stars ad formats are considered Rich Media. Video commercials that appear in video players are considered Digital Video Ads, not Rich Media. “Interstitials” have been consolidated within the rich media category and represent full- or partial-page text and image server-push advertisements which appear in the transition between two pages of content. Forms of interstitials can include a variation of the following terms: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Splash screens – a preliminary page that precedes the regular home page of a website that usually promotes a particular site feature or provides advertising. A splash page is timed to move onto the home page after a short period of time. • Pop-up ads and pop-under ads – an advertisement that appear in a separate window which automatically loads over an existing content window, without an associated banner. • Daughter windows – an advertisement that runs in a separate window associated with a concurrently displayed banner. The content and banner are typically displayed first, followed by the daughter window. • Superstitials – ads that are distinct from interstitials because of the much higher ad quality, and that they play instantly (ads are fully downloaded before they are displayed).

Digital Video Advertising	Advertising that appears before, during or after digital video content in a video player (i.e. pre-roll, mid-roll, post-roll video ads). Digital Video Ads include TV commercials online and can appear in streaming content or in downloadable video. Display-related ads on a page (that are not in a player) that contain video are categorized as rich media ads. Video Overlays are also categorized as Digital Video Advertising. Video overlays include small ads that appear on top of digital video content. They can appear to be display, video, rich media, text or another ad format but are contained within the video player.

Typically taking the form of static or rich media display ads, text messaging ads, search ads, or audio/video spots, such advertising generally appears within mobile websites (e.g. websites optimized for viewing on mobile devices), mobile apps (e.g. applications for Smartphones running iOS, Android, Windows Mobile or other operating systems), text messaging services (i.e. SMS, MMS) or within mobile search results (i.e., 411 listings, directories, mobile-optimized search engines). Mobile advertising formats include: Search, Display (banner ads, digital video, digital audio, sponsorships, and rich media), and Other advertising served to mobile devices.

Survey scope and methodology

Survey scope

The Interactive Advertising Bureau (IAB) retained PwC to establish a comprehensive standard for measuring the growth of internet/online/mobile advertising revenues. The "IAB internet advertising revenue report" is part of an ongoing IAB mission to provide an accurate barometer of internet advertising growth.

To achieve differentiation from existing estimates and accomplish industry-wide acceptance, key aspects of the survey include:

- Obtaining historical data directly from companies generating internet/online/mobile advertising revenues;
- Making the survey as inclusive as possible, encompassing all forms of internet/online/mobile advertising, including websites, consumer online services, ad networks, mobile devices, and email providers; and
- Ensuring and maintaining a confidential process, releasing only aggregate data.

Methodology

PwC performs the following:

- Compiles a database of industry participants selling internet/online and mobile advertising revenues
- Conducts a quantitative mailing survey with leading industry players, including Web publishers, ad networks, commercial online service providers, mobile providers, email providers, and other online media companies
- Acquires supplemental data through the use of publicly disclosed information
- Requests and compiles several specific data items, including monthly gross commissionable advertising revenue by industry category and transaction
- Identifies non-participating companies and applies a conservative revenue estimate based on available public sources
- Analyzes the findings, identifies and reports key trends
